

What You Can Expect

The Consultation

We realize that this is one of the most important days in your life. Our goal is to capture every precious moment of it from preparations to the event itself and the celebration that follows. While photos provide a beautiful record of the day your video will record every nuance like nothing else can. Years later you will be able to look back and not only see the faces of your loved ones but their expressions and hear their voices once again. Relive the sights and sound of that day whenever you choose.

To this end we always take the time to sit down with you in advance and talk about those moments that will be most important on that special day. We are interested in finding out more about you, your family, friends and even your favorite songs so we may incorporate excerpts throughout the video. We also go over, in detail, the day's itinerary with you and/or your event planner.

It is just as important to us to personally visit the wedding and reception sites so that we may not only get a good luck at the venue but speak directly with the representatives at each location. There we can determine ambient lighting conditions, available power as well as seating and table arrangements. All of this information we use to determine best shooting locations with the least impact on the proceedings.

To deliver the best possible finished product to you we firmly believe that, "Preparation Is Everything".

Your Wedding Day

Regardless of the package you choose we include a full day of shooting beginning with a visit to the Bride's home and the Groom's. This is the classic establishing shot sequence leading into the ceremony to follow soon after. It is our intent to capture all of the excitement and anticipation of the day.

During the wedding we always use 2 cameras to capture the ceremony from the point of view of the guests as well as close-ups of the Bride and Groom. If we are only using one videographer, the second camera location is normally fixed.

For those that have chosen the option we also record the audio at the service in close proximity. This may include individual wireless microphones for everyone or a single microphone in the middle. The method used is entirely your choice. Each mike is mixed down to a stereo recording and synchronized with the video during editing so that every word of your vows can be heard in perfect clarity.

At the reception we cover the receiving line first as always. Once the speeches are underway, we record every moment from beginning to end. As a bonus, we always use a separate recording mike on the podium to be sure that every word is audible. Where the lighting conditions are less than ideal we carry our own to insure a bright, colorful, noise free image. During this time we also use a second camera to capture the reactions of those at the wedding table and guests where possible.

Lastly, there is the Bridal Dance. We will be right out there on the floor with you and your wedding party to follow, capturing every step. A little creative editing and this is transformed into one of the most memorable moments in your video and a fitting close to the events of the day.

Throughout this entire process we will endeavor to solicit congratulations from as many of your family and guests as time will permit.

The Editing Process

Ours is never a cookie cutter approach. Based on those early interviews we try to tailor every production to create a very personal, sensitive look back at your special day. We use simple, clean, professional editing techniques. Digital effects are employed mainly when it enhances the excitement or emotion of the moment we have captured. As always we include our signature photo/video slideshow at the end recapping the entire day.

We can produce your video in several formats including a standard DVD or High Definition Blu-Ray disc. Menu driven, you may navigate directly to those scenes you wish to view. One copy is provided to the Bride and Groom packaged in a customized DVD case. Each member of the wedding party will also receive a copy.

If you have chosen the option, we will provide you a highlight copy on a USB thumb drive that may be uploaded to your personal web site, Facebook, MySpace or YouTube. This way, your guests that were not able to attend can also enjoy the moment.

You can expect delivery of the final product in about 10 days. Have a look at the options you have and prices below.
